James Armstrong (1840-1928)

Brightly

The musical score consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef with a key signature of two sharps (F# and C#). It begins with a series of chords and single notes, including a half note G4, a quarter note F#4, and a quarter note E4. A slur covers a group of notes in the middle. The lower staff is in bass clef with the same key signature. It features a steady accompaniment of chords and single notes, including a half note G2, a quarter note F#2, and a quarter note E2. The piece concludes with a final chord in both staves.

The final chord of the piece is shown in two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef, both with a key signature of two sharps. The chord consists of the notes G2, G4, and C#5, with a double bar line at the end of each staff.
