

Through the Ages Saints Have Wondered

Richard W. Adams, 2005

Harry Silverdale Mason, 1924

1. Through the ag - es saints have won - dered When the prom - ised day will be, When in
 2. But the scoff - ers mock the pro - mise, Walk - ing in their lust and pride, Say - ing, 3. At the time ap - point - ed, an - gels Will the sil - ver trump - et peal; In the 4. But we know not of the ho - ur, When His pro - mise He will keep; There - fore power and bright - est glo - ry Our re - turn - ing Lord we'll see; Search - ing the "Where, then, is your sav - ior? No - thing chang - es— he has lied." Pro - phe - cy hea -vens shall the na - tions See the Son of Man re - vealed. Tombs, graves and must we keep a - watch - ing, Lest our Lord find us a - sleep. For all will Scrip - ture for signs of the times: Plague, earth - quake, fa - mine, false Christs and fails not! He knew they would speak A - gainst His Word, de - ceiv - ing the o - ceans, re - ling - uish their hold— Saints from the four winds, now crowned with see Him, with scales and a sword, Dis - pens - ing jus - tice, sure as His shrines; War and com - mo - tion, and signs in the sky; So lift up your heads, re - weak. Yes, we know Je - sus is faith - ful and true, Pre - par - ing our man - sion, gold; Those mak - ing mer - ry, now shak - ing with dread, For He has re - turned to Word; Pre - pare to meet Him, with lamp in your hand, The Bride - groom is com - ing—

- demp - tion then is nigh!
 mak - ing all things new.
 judge the quick and dead.
 rise and greet the Lamb!