

The Still Small Voice (Petterson)

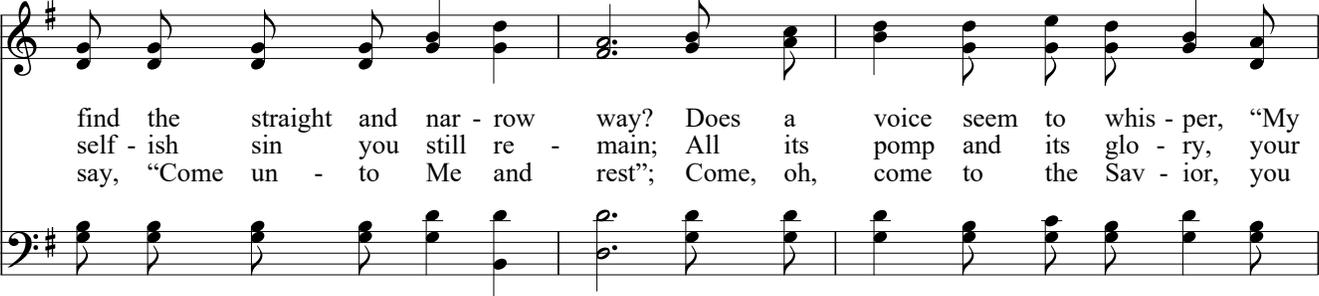

A. Sindell Petterson, 1908

Charles Hutchinson Gabriel

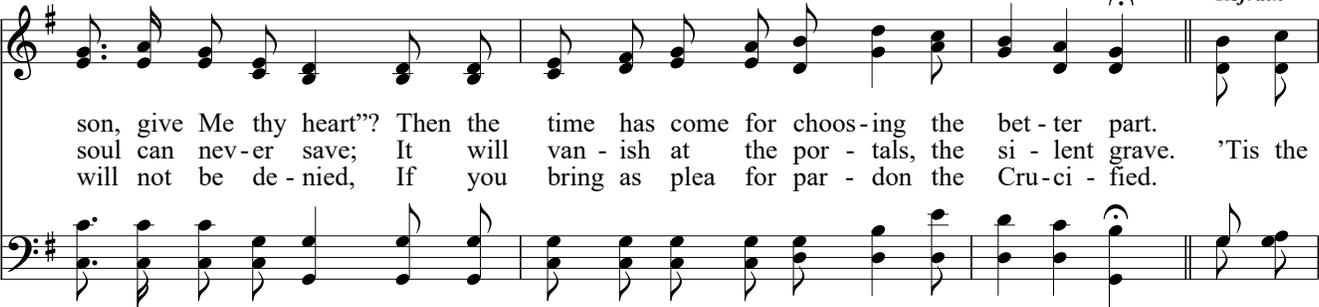

$\text{♩} = 99$

1. Do you feel a strange long-ing with-in your soul to-day? Would you
2. It would pro-fit you no-thing, tho' all the world you gain, If in
3. Are you weak, hea-vy la-den, by sin and woe op-pressed? Hear Him find the straight and nar-row way? Does a voice seem to whis-per, "My self-ish sin you still re-main; All its pomp and its glo-ry, your say, "Come un-to Me and rest"; Come, oh, come to the Sav-ior, you son, give Me thy heart"? Then the time has come for choos-ing the bet-ter part.

Refrain
soul can nev-er save; It will van-ish at the por-tals, the si-lent grave. 'Tis the will not be de-nied, If you bring as plea for par-don the Cru-ci-fied.

still small voice of the Sav-ior call-ing, Call-ing, call-ing, call-ing, "Come to Me"; Ma-ny years, Lord, I've heard Thee, I will no more de-lay; Thou shalt call in vain no long-er, I now o-bey.